

AGREED CASE TO TEST TAX BOARD POWERS ASKED

Bill of Rights and Constitution Violated in Fayette Reassessment, Attorneys Contend.

Frankfort, Ky., June 6. — A letter asking that arrangements be made for presentation of an agreed case to the Fayette circuit court as a test of the powers of the State Tax Commission to compel board of tax supervisors to raise assessments and to re-assess counties where the boards refuse to act, was received by the commission here today from Spence C. Carrick, county attorney of Fayette county. The letter also was signed by George C. Webb and George C. Hunt, special counsel, employed by the Fayette fiscal court to aid in fighting the efforts of the State Tax Commission to reassess Fayette, Scott, Union and other counties.

The letter asserts that the attorneys for the fiscal court take the stand that the action of the State Tax Commission in ordering re-assessment of Fayette county violates section two of the bill of rights which provides that there shall be no absolute and arbitrary power over lives, liberty and property of free men; section 181 of the constitution which provides that assessments for local taxation shall be made only by local officials and that the action destroys the local self-government in counties and the rights of protecting property owners.

The attorneys state that it is necessary that the Court of Appeals pass upon the matter and express the opinion that matters can be facilitated by having an agreed case.

Chairman Rainey T. Wells, of the commission, will confer with Attorney General Charles I. Dawson as soon as that official returns here from Louisville where he was today. He also has arranged for a conference with Governor Morrow on the subject.

VENERABLE MINISTER THINKS OFTEN OF HOME.

The venerable Rev. Jos. M. Evans, who has passed his eighty-sixth birthday and is still actively at work in a charge at Houston, Texas, in writing to a friend said that Maysville and Mason county never had a citizen who left their borders with greater regret or who took more interest in their affairs than he did.

Rev. Evans traveled all over Kentucky and thinks that Mason has no superior in the state as regards her lands or Maysville a more desirable place of residence.

He spoke of the intelligence and cultivation of the people of both city and county as being above the average. In his useful old age, he has many happy thoughts of his old home and the many friends he has left behind.

SUNDAY SCHOOL FOLK OF THIS COUNTY TO OPEN ANNUAL MEET

Mason County Sunday School Convention to Open Tuesday Here — Dr. Colvin Speaks at Washington Wednesday.

The annual convention of the Mason County Sunday School Association will be opened Tuesday evening at the Third Street M. E. church in this city and a very interesting preliminary program has been arranged.

The chief speakers at Tuesday's session will be Mr. W. J. Vaughn, well known state Sunday school expert, and Rev. Fred Riley, eloquent pastor of the Aberdeen Methodist church. Both men are very interesting speakers. Mr. Vaughn is one of the best posted and most popular Sunday school workers in Kentucky while Rev. Fred Riley is one of the best pulpit orators in this section.

The convention proper will be opened Wednesday at Washington and because of the large crowd expected, the place of meeting has been changed from the Presbyterian church to the Washington High School building.

There will be the usual reports and routine work of the convention and the big feature of the day will be an address Wednesday afternoon by Dr. George Colvin, Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of Kentucky. Dr. Colvin is said by many to be the best orator in the state and he is vitally interested in Sunday school work.

Taxi cabs will carry large numbers of Maysville people to Washington during the day and it is expected that the Washington Auditorium will be taxed with those eager to hear Dr. Colvin in the afternoon.

BIG RISE IN COAL PRICES IS FEARED

Quotations Will Advance as Much as $1.75 a Ton Under Recent Agreement, Retailer Tells Hoover.

Washington, June 6. — Retail price of bituminous coal will rise as much as $1.75 a ton because of the advance in the price of coal at the mines under the agreements reached last week with bituminous operators in the production fields. Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover was informed today by Roderick Stephens, of New York, chairman of the board of directors of the National Retail Coal Merchants' Association.

Mr. Hoover met 45 members of the mission to discuss the cooperation of the retailers in the commerce department's effort to prevent runaway coal prices during the strike, but the conference developed principally into a colloquy between Mr. Stephens and Mr. Hoover over a probable increase in the price of coal to the householders. The voluntary cooperation of the association to prevent undue price advances was pledged by Mr. Stephens.

Establishment of a minimum of $3.50 a ton for coal at the mines, Mr. Stephens contended, will mean an increase of $1.75 a ton in the retail price in Maine and the northwest.

Nine prohibition enforcement officers raided a number of places Monday in Covington, with the result that a quantity of "moonshine whisky" was confiscated and a large amount of corn meal mash destroyed. Several men were arrested and their bonds fixed at from $500 to $5,000.

The officers worked in two squads, in charge of Felix Fields, Lexington, District Enforcement Agent. The other officers were R. W. Easley, W. C. White, J. W. The officers say they found a twenty gallon still in operation, a copper boiler and worm, ten gallons of "moonshine whisky" and still were confiscated.

Jones was arraigned before Commissioner Rooten on a charge of manufacturing and possessing liquor. Jones gave bond in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance later.

Leaverton, when he returned to his cell in the county jail, appeared penitent for the first time since his arrest. "It was booze that caused it all," he said. "If I hadn't been drinking moonshine I never would have killed him."

Mr. L. Despair, traveling salesman for a Louisville concern, was arrested at Mayslick Monday evening by Sheriff C. M. Devore on a warrant issued by County Judge Doak, of Fayette county, charging him with the theft of an automobile on Cheapside, Lexington, last October. The warrant was issued upon affidavit of Mr. A. Troubridge, farmer, who lives near Paynes Depot in Scott county.

Mr. Troubridge motored to Mayslick Monday and after locating Mr. Despair informed local officers and turned over to them the warrant issued by the Fayette county judge.

It is charged that Mr. Troubridge's auto, which was a seven passenger Chandler was taken from Cheapside while parked there. The evidence which officials at Lexington might have fixing the blame on Mr. Despair is unknown here but Mr. Despair contends that he is innocent of any such charge and that he knows nothing about the theft of the Troubridge car.

Louisville salesmen in the city Tuesday speak well of Mr. Despair's reputation and local salesmen say they know him to be a man of high caliber. Despair was released Tuesday afternoon on bond of $500 for his appearance in the Fayette County Court.

And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

BATHING BEACH IS NEEDED.

The death by drowning of Jack Boling on Wednesday afternoon cast a gloom over the city.

Scores of mothers worried until the supper hour about their own sons. We were talking with a mother on the street when a friend told us of the lad's untimely death. The mother immediately said: "I wonder where John could be."

Jack Boling drowned because he was in too deep water for a boy who was only learning to swim and because there were no adult swimmers about to swim to his rescue.

All boys of Jack's age, who live this near the Ohio River, feel the call of the water at this season of the year and warnings from parents or horrible lessons such as the drowning of Jack will not hold them from the river.

Bathing is great sport. Grown-ups as well as youngsters enjoy the water on balmy days. Maysvillians have splendid swimming shores where the water is deep enough to enjoy and yet shallow enough for the young beginners to learn without great danger.

We need a properly equipped bathing beach under careful management. Such a beach would be well crowded during the summer months. It would reduce the river fatalities among beginners and would furnish our citizens with one of the best of summer sports.

EMPLOYMENT INCREASING EVERYWHERE.

Reports from many industrial centers indicate that a shortage exists already in several classes of common labor as a result of business improvement. In fact, a few cities have been obliged to draw on other places for labor.

It is probably a fact that business would be approximately normal right now, if several strikes in different parts of the country had not curtailed growth of trade and delayed advancement. And if strikes do not interfere further with the progressive movement, commerce should be going at normal speed by September at the latest, with continuous increase in the interim.

Nothing is gained in these times by strikes, or by price increases. Strikes are sure to cause losses to all concerned, and also to the public.

But no adverse condition can obstruct business. Conditions are sound and are favorable to betterment. Commerce will improve steadily. There is every justification for the firmest confidence. The best justification is the very obvious, permanent improvement.

Untermeyer says he is disgusted because fines are imposed in antitrust cases, instead of prison sentences. There are two ways to look at this subject. Untermeyer cannot object if the fines are large enough, and perhaps the jails could not accommodate all whom the courts might sentence. Can't the courts hit corporation and individual treasuries hard enough?

City school teachers who had charge of the school census attribute the decrease in the number of children of school age in the city to moving of families from the city to the suburbs. If Maysville had the population of its suburbs added to its bona fide population, we would rank as a real "Third Class City."

A prominent citizens of Dover, in Maysville on business recently, remarked to us that the little town of Dover had missed nothing so much as its weekly newspaper. A community served by a newspaper may not appreciate the worth of the paper to the community to the fullest extent until deprived of it.

The Public Ledger congratulates the Augusta Chronicle in having a namesake. A little girl whose family name is Printer has been named Augusta Chronicle Printer by her parents. So far as we know this is the first time a baby has been named for a newspaper.

It certainly must be worth one hundred dollars to a carnival to show in a community a week. They always pay it without question. The big question, however, is whether or not a carnival is worth to a community what it actually costs in cash.

It appears that there are delinquents on other licenses as well as dog licenses in Mason county.

HIGH TAXES.

The universal cry is against high taxes. The cry should not be against high taxes, but against the corrupt use of taxes. The question of high or low taxes is to some extent governed by the valuation put upon property from the public treasury. Crush the socialistic, paternal spirit growing up in this country, whether in the form of the pork barrel or government ownership of public utilities. All such unconstitutional doctrines and practices are increasing the taxes to the breaking point.

The continued excessive tax burdens can be traced to certain abuses:

First: Extravagant, complicated governments. The office seekers, office holders, and tax eaters have multiplied government machinery to perpetuate themselves in office. If you would reduce the machinery and throw out of office the inefficient, rat-hole hunting office parasites you would reduce the cost of municipal, county, state and national governments 30 per cent. Today, you have about sixty cents of every dollar of tax money invested in government, and the other forty cents is represented by waste, fraud, inefficiency and graft.

The bureaucracy of this country is a curse to good government and a criminal expense upon the tax-ridden public. Simplify governmental machinery and put competent, trained, patriotic men in office and taxes will be reduced 30 per cent. within a short time.

Second: Destroy the spoils system. Elect or appoint men to office solely on the ground of merit. Then you will get an honest day's work for true love of country and a just consideration of the trust imposed.

INSECTS, DISEASES THREATEN RECORD BLOOMING OF ROSES.

Lexington, Ky. — Rose bushes in practically every section of the state are blooming in exceptional fashion this year but inquiries being received at the College of Agriculture from many growers indicate that numerous insects and diseases are threatening the continued profuse blooming.

When bushes show signs of disease or insect infestation, a careful diagnosis must be given first to determine the exact cause of the trouble, according to recommendations made by N. R. Elliott, of the college extension division. Insect injury may be caused either by biting or sucking insects, different treatments being required in either case. Treatments differing entirely from those applied for insect damage must be used when the trouble is caused by a disease.

At this particular season of the year a considerable amount of the trouble probably is being caused by the plant aphids. This insect belongs to the sucking class and can be controlled by spraying the bushes with commercially prepared tobacco mixtures. A little later in the season, the common insect that bothers roses is the rose chafer, this one belonging to the biting class. It is controlled by spraying the bushes with arsenate of lead. If the leaves become affected with a fungus growth, they must be treated with Bordeaux mixture.

In using any of the three remedies named, it is best to follow the instructions given on the package. All three can be purchased in a commercial form at any drug store, water being the only thing needed to make the materials ready for use. This is perhaps the best way to buy the materials and in general will give better results than when they are prepared at home.

"Uncle Ted," said Ruth as the three chums arose from the table, "we've wanted ever so much to hear all about the things you saw on Decoration Day at Washington. Jack says he knows you can tell us a story about it."

"It has been several days since then, Ruth," answered Uncle Ted, "but I will be glad to tell you about the dedication of that great memorial to the wonderful man, Abraham Lincoln. I would have told you about it before but I was delayed returning home because I had to go on to New York first."

"I suppose there were lots of bands, flags and lots of excitement," said Jack.

"No, Jack," was Uncle Ted's reply, "there was nothing like that at all. The ceremonies, or rather to me the better world would be services, were simple in the extreme, just like the great Abraham Lincoln would have liked them I am sure. First of all picture this beautiful simple structure on the banks of the Potomac, overlooked by the hills of Virginia. The memorial is simple but massive. It actually speaks the simple greatness of that martyred President. Within its four walls only three things greet the eye. As you enter you take a short breath, as you face the enormous statue, the work of the sculptor, Daniel Chester French. It is a statue of Lincoln, seated so that he looks through the entrance of the memorial far off to the tall shaft of another memorial, that of the Washington monument, erected in memory of the Father of our Country. On one side, carved into the wall is Lincoln's Gettysburg address and on the opposite wall his inaugural address. That is all. But it makes you stop and think and realize what a mighty man this Lincoln was and what might have happened to our Union had it not been for his simple faith, a faith which made it possible for him to guide the nation through a crisis which we hope will never occur again.

"When the crowds had gathered a hushed silence fell upon the crowd of more than 100,000 while the Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor emeritus of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, the church attended by Lincoln pronounced the invocation. When he finished the presentation of the colors was made by veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, the remnants of that great army which, headed by Lincoln as Commander-in-chief, struggled from 1861 to 1865 to save the Union. Prayer was pronounced by Bishop Samuel Fallows, chaplain of the Grand Army. I must tell you of Dr. Robert Moton, head of the Tuskegee Institute and leader of the negro race he said: 'Lincoln freed a nation as well as a race. Twelve million black Americans share the rejoicing of this day.' I tell you kiddies, it was inspiring. The whole service made one stop and think and realize more and more what these great men of the past did for our country. It makes one realize more and more that the present occupant of the seat once held by Lincoln, knows his responsibility and that he does not intend to give away those things for which our fathers struggled by making this nation a party to European webs of intrigue.

"But I must hurry on with my story. The presentation of the memorial was made by William Howard Taft, former President of the United States, at present Chief Justice of the United States and chairman of the Lincoln Memorial Commission. I want to read you one thing he said and then tell you of President Harding's talk. Mr. Taft said: 'Here on the banks of the Potomac, the boundary between the two sections, whose conflict made the burden, passion and triumph of his life, it is peculiarly appropriate that it should stand.' He continued that it marks, 'the restoration of the brotherly love of the two sections in this memorial of one who is as dear to the hearts of the South as to those of the North.' "I cannot, of course, tell you all that was said by President Harding in accepting this memorial for the Nation. I want, rather to show you how, when he spoke, our present President tried to point out that neither Lincoln nor Washington were supermen, nor any other President past or present. He showed again what he had already in the short time he has been at the head of our government, demonstrated time and again, that so-called supermen have no place in the make-up of our country. He speaks and acts on the one theory that:

"It is vastly greater than finding the superman if we justify the confidence that our institutions are capable of bringing into authority, in time of stress, men big enough and strong enough to meet all demands."

"I hope I can convey to you, kiddies, some of the feeling I had when listening to President Harding's address. I came away firmer than ever in the belief that our government is the greatest of all and that as such it will go ahead so long as our leaders remember two things: that supermen do not exist; second, that we can best serve the rest of the world by keeping our government as the fathers would have kept it, free from entangling alliances. As Mr. Harding said toward the close of his address:

"Washington and Lincoln offered outstanding proof that a representative popular government, constitutionally founded, can find its own way to salvation and accomplishment."

RECTIFYING THE FORCE OF HABIT.

By JOSEPH N. FINING.

Shock gave speech to William Rosendorf, Jr., a six-year-old lad of Washington, D. C., who had never uttered a word. While floating in the air at an altitude of two thousand feet over Atlantic City, with the open sky above and the surging ocean below, the delightful sensation set the palsied muscles of his tongue in motion, and he exclaimed "Airplane!" Many voyagers will be taken with the hope that recurrent surprise will bridle his intractable tongue to full control of the will.

Usually, the beneficial or injurious results of shock are attended as in William Rosendorf's case, with some thrilling circumstance. Shock seems, therefore, to be an abnormal and extraordinary disturbance to an existing state. But it is a fact that no recurrence is so frequent and common as physical, spiritual and mental shock, and nor corrective or curative does us so much good.

It is the occasional shocks, especially to the mind and the spirit, that jerks us suddenly to serious realization of the hazardous drift of our selves and our affairs, and gives us the clear vision to judge truly the values of life as they are. In the regular progression of things, shocks are reactive signals, which, if heeded, enable us to keep the moral and intellectual equilibrium necessary for business success, right living and congenial relationship with those about us.

Our inclinations and duties impress on us almost rigid likes and obligations, and our associates and environments impress on us opinionated conclusions. We acquire fixed points of view and adjust work and recreation to unvarying routine. We live according to rigorous habit. Even our objectives are set up and outlined by restrictive ideas.

Occasionally, the customary evenness of the great, steady movement is agitated by an unexpected contrary force, surprising us with dismay or gratification. It is the natural shock which corrects false view or tendency to the full tide of life. It is the warning signal against the error of habit. If we take cognizance of the oft-repeated shocks which we receive, our inner and outer vision will be regulated accurately to those beacons which show the way to the best attainment.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Maysville resident has withstood this sternest of all tests. Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, Maysville, says: "I have been greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills and I have reason to recommend them. At times my back has become lame and ached just over my kidneys. My kidneys were irregular in action and I was dizzy. When ever I have used Doan's Kidney Pills I always get relief from these complaints. I certainly think them a good reliable remedy. I always get Doan's at Wood & Son's Drug Store."

The above statement was given November 16, 1916, and on November 22, 1920, Mrs. Holliday said: "I am glad to say my kidneys have given me no trouble since using Doan's Kidney Pills four years ago. My general health has been good. I gladly renew the statement I gave recommending Doan's at that time."

LILLIAN RUSSELL DIED EARLY TUESDAY MORNING

Former Famous Stage Beauty Dies as Result of a Fall Aboard Ship Returning From Europe.

Pittsburgh, June 6. — Lillian Russell is dead.
The former stage beauty succumbed early today to a complication of diseases believed the result of a fall on board ship while returning from Europe, where she studied immigration conditions for President Harding.
The end came at 2:20 a. m. after an illness of ten days. At her bedside was her fourth husband, Alexander P. Moore, Pittsburgh publisher, a daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Dorothy Russell Calvit, and a niece, Mildred A. Martin.
The funeral is expected to take place Thursday.
Lillian Russell, who first made the beauty of American women internationally famous, was born, as Helen (Nellie) Louise Leonard, in Clinton, Ia., December 4, 1861. She was the daughter of Charles E. Leonard, newspaper proprietor. She was educated at Sacred Heart Convent in Chicago and there began the study of music in 1877, making her first appearance on the stage as an amateur Christmas, 1877, in "Time Tries All."
Miss Russell was for years the most frequently reported engaged celebrity in the public eye, and the first of her four marriage ventures took place at this time. Her first husband, was Harry Braham, an orchestral director.

SUDAN PLANTED NOW WILL MAKE SUMMER HOG FORAGE.
Lexington, Ky. — Sudan grass for hog pasture can be seeded as late as the middle of June in Kentucky, according to E. J. Wilford, swine specialist of the College of Agriculture. The crop is meeting with special favor among swine breeders and feeders because of its ability to continue growing during the hot, dry, Kentucky summers when rape and other pasture crops are dried up, he said. From 20 to 30 pounds of seed usually are drilled in each acre, the larger amount being preferable since it results in a thicker sod. The grass is an exceptional rapid-growing pasture crop. A plot of it on the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station farm has summer average 15 inches high, when measured from the ground to the tip of the leaves, 16 days after planting. It is ready for pasture when about ten inches high. The crop also is palatable and well liked by hogs and usually is so rank growing that a large number of hogs can be pastured on it and a crop of hay cut afterwards.

VALENTINO IS ACQUITTED OF BIGAMY CHARGE.

Los Angeles, June 5. — Rudolph Valentino, screen actor, whose principal roles have been of love heroes, was liberated of a charge of bigamy here today when the felony complaint was dismissed after a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Hanby. The justice ruled there was insufficient evidence presented to support the complaint.

BLACK PLANT LICE OPEN ATTACKS ON NATURTUMS.

Lexington, Ky. — This is the season of the year in which nasturtium growers find it necessary to give special attention to their plants in order to prevent serious injury of them by plant lice, according to N. R. Elliott, of the College of Agriculture extension division. Rolled leaves on the plant are first evidence that these sucking insects have begun their work, large masses of small black plant lice being revealed when the leaves are unrolled. Although the lice are not hard to control, certain methods must be used since they belong to the class of sucking insects. They are destroyed by spraying them with materials that kill by suffocation, commercial tobacco mixtures being best for this. Instructions for mixing and spraying with these materials should be taken from the package and followed carefully. Careful examinations of the plants throughout the summer and frequent sprays are necessary.
